Beltway Plaza Plans Are Revealed On Stabilization of Bank Erosion

by Diane Oberg

New tenants, the liquor license appeal for a proposed billiard parlor, parking and a soil stabilization plan were the topics of the night as the City Council met with representatives of Beltway Plaza at a September 8 worksession.

Work is underway on construction of a new Giant supermarket that Fred Wine, consultant to the Plaza owner, said will be the largest store in the chain. Wine is the president of Quantum Management Company. Fashion Bug should open a 9,000 square foot store in mid-November and Dollar City is already open.

Champion Billiards

The parties basically agreed to disagree regarding the proposed billiard establishment to be located upstairs near the Sports Authority store. Champion Billiards applied for a license to sell liquor. In earlier discussions with council, company representatives said they planned to be open 24 hours a day with liquor sold from 11 a.m. to 2 a.m. The city council opposed the license application, which was approved by the county liquor board on a 2-2 vote. The city has appealed.

Wine found no interest among the four council members present (council member Antoinette Bram did not attend the meeting) in trying to modify the proposal to obtain council support.

Police Substation

Security concerns were one reason for opposition, acknowledged Wine, who reminded council that plaza representatives proposed a police substation for the plaza to help improve the situation. City Manager Daniel Hobbs reported that the owners of Springhill Lake are currently unable to participate, removing half of the private sector financing. Under the original proposal the city and the private partners were each to contribute $50,000 towards the substation.

Despite the loss of this funding, Wine urged the city not to drop the idea. He suggested a more limited approach with a single officer, instead of the two planned in the original proposal, with the substation staffed only during the hours generating the most police service calls.

Greenbelt Police Chief James Craze and Lieutenant John Lann reported no significant change has occurred in the number of major crimes at the plaza, but that it continues to be a prime source of repeat calls for fights, disorderly conduct and similar problems.

Hobbs noted the possibility for "a more limited enterprise" than the proposed substation, but noted Craze's concern that his police force could be assuming a role more appropriate to the plaza security force.

Mayor Gil Weidenfeld felt that with even a single officer during the most troubled hours, it "could be a good investment" for the city. Wine urged the city to continue to invest the full $50,000 it originally planned. He, in turn, would try to come up with additional funds beyond the $25,000 committed by the shopping center.

While Weidenfeld, mayor pro tem Thomas White and council member Edward Putens all were supportive of pursuing the single officer option, Council member Rodney Roberts was concerned that one officer was simply not adequate. A second officer was necessary, he said, so they could cover each others' backs. Hobbs noted that there is usually another city officer moonlighting at the shopping center, along with three officers on duty in the sector. Hobbs and the city staff will pursue the matter further.

The Slope

One long-standing bone of contention between the city and the shopping center is the problem of unstable soil on the east slope between the plaza and the county school bus lot. Kap Kapastein, General Counsel to Beltway Plaza, said that they had obtained all necessary permits save one to begin work on a new soil stabilization project.

Wine said that the contractor expects to begin work soon. The project will involve removing and drying the top layer of soil and the installation of a drainage system into the hill to relieve pressure from water from an underground spring.

Planning and Development Director Celia Wilson urged the plaza representatives to be sure that, when the parking lot is repaved, proper grading is done to ensure that runoff from the drainage system is channeled into the storm drains. The hill drainage system will drain directly onto the parking lot with no direct connection to the storm sewer.

Parking

Repaving the entire parking lot was another project promised by Wine. He said that construction of the new supermarket will not involve significant expansion of the parking area. Wilson reported that the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission has ruled that Giant must only provide parking for the 40,000 feet of space it is adding to what previously existed at the plaza.

Council member Rodney Roberts raised several environmental concerns regarding runoff from the parking lot which eventually runs into the Anacostia River. These issues included thermal pollution (the effects on aquatic life of the warm water, heated by running over the paved area) and the presence of oil and grit in the runoff.

Wilson said that while the new parking area must meet current county code for stormwater management, including some holding ponds, neither the store nor the shopping center is required to retrofit the existing facility for environmental purposes.

County School Board Holds Public Hearing

The Board of Education of Prince Georges County will hold a public hearing on school construction and renovation projects proposed under the 1994-1999 Capital Improvement Program on Thursday, September 24 at 6:30 p.m. The meeting will be held in the Board Room of the Sasser Administration Building in Upper Marlboro. Copies of the proposed improvements program can be obtained by calling 952-6004. Anyone wanting to testify should register in advance by calling 952-6115.

Only Two Weeks to Register To Vote in Nov. 3 Election

by Elaine Skolnik

It is not too late for Greenbelt residents to register to vote in the upcoming November 3 Presidential General Election. The last day to register is Monday, October 5. Officials to be elected are President and Vice President of the United States, U.S. Senator from Maryland, Representative to the U.S. Congress from the Fifth Congressional District and Judges. State and County questions will also be on the ballot.

In-person voter registration can be accomplished at (1) all Giant Supermarkets on Saturdays starting September 19 through October 3 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., (2) the Board of Supervisors of Elections, 14701 Governor Oden Bowie Drive, Suite 101, Upper Marlboro from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. and (3) Motor Vehicle Administration, 50 Old Largo Road from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Voter registration applications are also available at all post offices, county libraries, Greenbelt and other municipal offices and public elementary and high schools.

A registration hotline — 627-2814—can be reached 24 hours a day, seven days a week. The hearing impaired may call TDD-627-3352 for a registration application.

County Executive Parris Glendening on September 4 set a goal of registering an average of 1,000 new voters a day for the final month leading up to the county voter registration deadline of October 5. "When we reach this goal, we will have more than 300,000 citizens registered to vote in this year's presidential election," Glendening said. Reaching the goal would mean that more than 40,000 people will have been registered since March.

Glendening observed that "As excitement about the presidential race builds, there is renewed interest in voting. We will take advantage of this excitement."

To qualify to register in the county, a resident must be a citizen of the United States, 18 on or before November 3, and a resident of the county. Also, the resident must not be under guardianship for mental disability and not have been convicted more than once of an "infamous crime" and not "currently under a sentence imposed pursuant to a conviction of an infamous crime."

A resident's change of address should be reported to the Board of Elections within 30 days of the change. This request must be written and signed by the voter. Registration is permanent as long as the voter remains a county resident, keeps his address current with the Supervisors of Elections and does not let five years go by without voting.

At the time of registration a citizen may choose to join a political party. In the state of Maryland there are currently three political parties: Democrat, Republican and Libertarian. Citizens not registering for a political party are called independents/declines. They do not vote in primary elections but do cast ballots in primaries for non-partisan school board candidates.

Registered voters who are full-time students attending a college outside their precinct but within the county or attending an out of the county college, or a voter absent for any other reason on election day, may vote by absentee ballot.

Call the Election Office at 952-3270 for further information.

CFG Hosts Meeting On Metro Development

Citizens for Greenbelt will present a meeting on future development surrounding the Greenbelt Metro station in the city council chambers on Thursday, September 24 at 7:45 p.m. Everyone is welcome.

City and county planners will make presentations on the options for development and how the upcoming planning process will be conducted.

Proposals to restore Indian Creek and extend the hiker/biker trail to Metro will be discussed.

There will be a question-and-answer period and refreshments.

Call Rick Meetre, 474-0490, if there are questions.

Open Forum Held By Planning Board

The Prince Georges County Planning Board of the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission will hold a public forum to solicit input on what the Board should place in its budget for planning, parks and recreation for the next fiscal year which begins July 1, 1993. The forum will be held on Thursday, October 8 at the Prince Georges Ballroom, 2411 Pinebrook Avenue, Landover at 7 p.m. People are invited and encouraged to attend the forum and to express their views.

To register to speak in advance call (301) 952-4584. Testimony will be limited to three (3) minutes if speaking for one, or five (5) minutes for those who are representing an organization.

Letters to the Editor

Thanks

My thanks to all the Greenbelt Girl Scouts and family members who assisted us with our Labor Day Festival Parade appearance. Most of our Girl Scout families are involved in a variety of community groups and their time is especially scarce during the Labor Day festivities. The great showing of girls and adults on Monday morning (and that shiny black Porsche that carried our special guest) was certainly appreciated.

Thanks especially go to the leaders who "spread the word" of our 80th anniversary march in the parade. I think it was a "A+," "number one," "blue ribbon" performance, and I'm grateful to all for their support. We'll be back . . . in 1993!

Karen Yoho

Wonderful News

First the wonderful news. As of yesterday I am on the lung transplant list. We move to our temporary housing on Sunday, September 13, at the University Inn, 581, 18th Street, South, Birmingham, Alabama 35233 (five blocks from the hospital). Starting on Monday, September 14, I will be undergoing additional tests, some of which are needed by the United Network For Organ Sharing. In between testing and pulmonary rehab at the hospital, Charlie and I will not be in the hotel much of the time. We can not have our own telephone installed there. Therefore, I probably won't get to talk to most of you until we get our own apartment and telephone.

Will fill in more details when I write you with new address and telephone number. Right now I don't know how we are going to get ready in four days for this move.

Please keep us in your prayers. You are all in our hearts and thoughts.

Evening Nature Walk

Join a Park Ranger for an evening stroll along Greenbelt Park's Dogwood Nature Trail on Tuesday, September 22. Meet at the Dogwood Nature Trail at 6 p.m. and discover the history of the park as well as its diverse plant and animal life.

Two Pleasures

We visit our son and grandchildren in Greenbelt often. We have observed commendable courtesy as well as unfailing observance of traffic rules and signs as we drive through your community. We are very glad that at least part of our family lives there! It has been our experience that driving is a real pleasure in Greenbelt.

We wish to thank Greenbelt also for the beautiful flower displays that we enjoy as we enter Greenbelt by car. They are much appreciated!

Greens to Discuss Some Ballot Issues

The Greenbelt Green's next monthly public meeting at the Greenbelt Library Meeting Room on September 21 at 7:30 p.m. will feature some of the issues to be on the election ballot in November. Judy Robinson, chairperson of the Prince Georges County Citizens for Tax Reform and Term Limitation will be the speaker.

Ballot item C limits the county executive to two four-year terms, and item D limits the rise in taxes to a five percent cost-of-living allowance per year. They were written by Mike Maloney, one of the many Democrats on this bipartisan committee, which is sponsored by the Prince Georges County Civic Federation. Anyone who wishes to come and discuss either side of these issues is welcome to do so by the Greens and the speaker.

Sunday, September 20 at 7 p.m. the Greens will meet informally at Doug Love's house for the quarterly business meeting to plan the next few months' activities and discuss the results of participation in the Labor Day Festival.

Ballot Referendum 6 Right to Choose

The Judith Resnik Group of Greater Washington Hadassah will hold its first meeting of the fall season on Tuesday, September 22 at 8 p.m. at Mishkan Torah Congregation.

"Ballot Referendum 6, for a Woman's Right to Choose" is the topic of the program.

Advocates for choice, State Senator Patricia R. Sher (D-Montgomery) and Sharon Rogers, organizer of the Prince Georges County Marylanders for Choice effort will discuss the importance of voting for question 6 on November 3. Also invited to participate is a member of the Maryland Coalition for Abortion Rights.

Hadassah is a not-for-profit organization involved in support of Hadassah hospitals and other Hadassah projects in Israel, as well as educational, social, and youth projects in Israel and the United States. The meeting is open to the public.

Kid's Developmental Clinic Is Offered

Scheduled registrations for the fall session of the Children's Developmental Clinic are now being accepted. The nine-week fall session is scheduled to begin Saturday, September 26 and end on Saturday, November 21. Sessions will be held at two locations: the Novak Field House on the Largo campus of Prince Georges Community College and the North Gym on the College Park campus of the University of Maryland.

Children, aged birth through 21, are scheduled for one hour sessions, 10 to 11 a.m. or 11:15 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. During the one hour session, the children participate in a one-to-one individualized motor development program. A parent education program runs in conjunction with the children's session. For additional information or registration procedures, call Dr. Paul H. Hahn, Director or Kathy Hinkal, Coordinator any Monday, Tuesday, Thursday or Friday, 9:30 a.m.-noon at 322-0519.

GHI Board & Members in Heated Debate Over Revealing Salaries

by Betty Timer

To release or not to release individual salaries for Greenbelt Homes staff was the heart of a heated discussion at a September 10 meeting of the Board of Directors. At GHI's annual meeting, members had approved a motion requesting open inspection of salaries of the General Manager and all other GHI employees.

The News Review noted at the time that an agonizing compromise was reached during the Board meeting of August 13 between the concerned membership and board members who opposed the concept. That compromise was short-lived as opposing factions once again resurfaced at the September 10 meeting.

An ad hoc committee of Board members presented a written report with ranges (nearest $50) of compensation in 1992. A motion noted that the corporation bases its salaries and raises on merit, not step increments.

Director Margaret Hogensen stated that revealing payroll information on individual employees would damage working conditions. She stated, "If we harm management, we harm the members." During the discussion, the General Manager was asked to state his salary, which he did. Last year he received a $62,000 annual salary plus a $2,000 bonus.

Detailed-salary supporters viewed disclosure of salary ranges as inconsistent with the directive of the membership. GHI member Ray Stevens said, "As a new member of GHI, I feel you never intended to give out this information. You're playing games with this issue."

GREENBELT HOMES, INC.

Compensation Ranges - 1992

ADMINISTRATIVE

Clerks	$15,500 - 23,800
Secretaries, Bookkeepers, and Administrative Assistants	17,375 - 26,475
Professional Staff	20,000 - 29,950
Department Heads	36,000 - 56,000
General Manager	62,000

MAINTENANCE

Custodian, Groundsmen, and Laborers	15,500 - 22,000
Apprentices	17,875 - 24,000
Journeyman	24,000 - 29,900
Master Craftsmen	30,000 - 36,000

Something has been going on but I don't know what!"

As the lengthy debate continued, Director Wayne Williams concluded: "Each side believes they are right and there is no in between." Seven Board members voted in favor of releasing ranges of salaries and two were opposed. Those two—Donald Comis and Carol Levine—filed a written objection to this motion. (See box.)

Subleases

Four owners formally requested to sublease their homes. Unable to sell their units, three wanted to sublease with the option to buy. Following the "subleasing criteria," all four were granted one-year permissions pending approval of their tenants by GHI staff.

Each GHI member will be receiving a letter listing his/her 1993 monthly charges. The letter will provide detailed components of that total charge. Charges for 1992 will be used as a benchmark. Monthly charges will increase by the same percentage for all members within each budget class (frame, masonry, larger homes) but will vary through charges for each unit which are unique to that unit, for example, garage rent, rehab loan payment, an addition, and maintenance.

Conference Host

GHI will host the Eastern Cooperative Housing Organization (ECHO) Conference on September 18-19 at Greenbelt's Courtyard Marriott. In conjunction with a previous ECHO Conference, the staff has drafted a membership questionnaire to accomplish four purposes: to obtain basic information about the membership, to determine if existing services are being used by the membership, to identify special needs that are not being met, and to recruit volunteers willing to work with other members.

The charter of the Woodlands Committee was amended to include "... to study and recommend options that GHI could implement to more permanently preserve our woodlands and protect them from development..."

Police Blotter

Based on Information
Released by the Greenbelt
Police Department

Around 6 p.m. on September 7 police responded to a report of an assault near Braden Field. The victims stated that as they were walking away from the carnival, they were jumped by two white males near the tennis courts and were punched repeatedly until one of the assailants lifted his shirt and revealed something that looked like the butt of a handgun. At this point the victims managed to run away. One of the assailants is described as being in his 20s, 6'1", 175 lbs., and wearing jeans; no description is given of the other one.

Two resident youths, aged 19 and 17, and one nonresident 17-year-old were arrested near Braden Field and charged with possession of marijuana around 9:30 p.m. on September 3 after an officer had seen them smoking what appeared to be the drug, and then had found three baggies of it on the youths. The 19-year-old appeared before a District Court Commissioner and was released pending trial. The resident 17-year-old was taken to Cheltenham; and the nonresident 17-year-old was released to his parents pending trial.

Around 3 a.m. on September 11 a 25-year-old resident man was arrested and charged with possession of drug paraphernalia in the area of Kenilworth Avenue and Pontiac Street. He was released on citation pending trial.

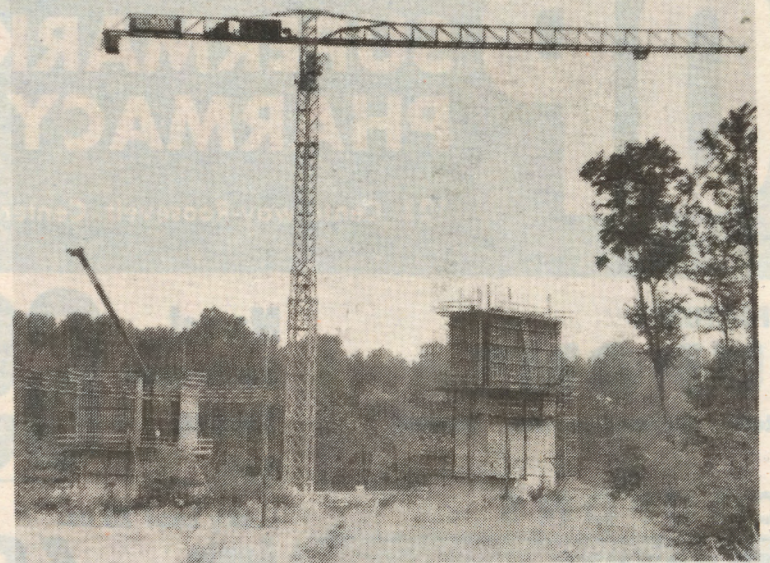

A 19-year-old nonresident man was arrested and charged with theft under $300 on September 6 after the vehicle he was driving was pulled over near 8 Court Southway for a traffic violation and police found that the registration plates had been reported stolen. The youth appeared before a District Court Commissioner and was held on $750 bond pending trial.

Police recovered a stolen 1988 Honda Civic in the 6200 block of Breezewood Drive on September 5.

A gold two-door 1979 Volkswagen Scirocco, MD tags ZYG-780, was reported stolen from the 200 block of Springhill Court on September 7.

Vandalisms to, thefts from, and attempted thefts of autos were reported in the following areas: 100 block of Centerway, 9100 block of Edmonston Court, the 9300 block of Edmonston Road, 6000 block of Greenbelt Road, 8100 block of Lakecrest Drive, 7600 block of Ora Glen Drive, and 9100 block of Springhill Lane.

Reinforced concrete towers are erected as the first phase of construction of the new Federal Courthouse for the Southern Maryland Region on Cherrywood Lane opposite Capital Office Park.

Greenbelt Sailor Assigned To Hurricane Relief Effort

by Steve Orr

USS PONCE AT SEA — When James McCann left the pier at Naval Station, Norfolk, Va. on August 29, he was headed to do his part in rebuilding hurricane-ravaged South Florida. The 29-year-old petty officer aboard the USS Ponce admitted that he didn't know quite what to expect even after reading the news reports that outlined the devastation caused by Andrew's 140-to 160 mph winds.

McCann, the son of Louann McCann of Greenbelt, did know, however, that he was part of a large military relief and humanitarian assistance mission that would involve 22,500 service men and women. During the three-day transit to Florida, McCann concentrated on what was ahead.

After arriving at the Port of Miami, the reality of the amount of destruction sobered the crew members of the Ponce. Describing the scene at nearby, hard-hit Homestead Air Force Base, one military officer said, "The tail-end thing left standing there is a refrigerator."

McCann said the Ponce's initial role in "Operation Help From the Sea" included the delivery to Miami's port of 22 tons of chilled and frozen food, 21 tons of dried food and other relief supplies to be distributed to those in need.

Also embarked on the Ponce was an amphibious construction battalion of 120 Navy SeaBees and a detachment of helicopters able to provide over-the-shore heavy lift capability for construction vehicles.

McCann's ship, the Ponce, is an amphibious assault vessel, one of five naval ships initially deployed as part of a joint task force to respond to Hurricane Andrew relief efforts.

McCann, who entered the service in 1982, is a boatswain's mate, responsible for line handling, crane operations and the training of junior sailors.

According to McCann, the advantage of sending naval vessels to the scene of a natural disaster is that the ships like the Ponce are self-sufficient. Capable of making its own water and power, and bringing badly needed communications technology to an area where even the most basic of services have been destroyed, the Ponce also brings the additional assistance of skilled sailors like McCann who are ready to work.

McCann is a 1983 graduate of Eleanor Roosevelt High School.

McDonald's Helps In Hurricane Relief

Beginning next week, McDonald's Restaurants of Greater Washington, D.C. will participate in a nationwide fundraising campaign encouraging McDonald's customers to help support disaster victims of Hurricane Andrew. As part of this effort, McDonald's will distribute pre-addressed, postage paid American Red Cross Disaster Relief contribution envelopes and provide counter canisters for collecting in-store donations.

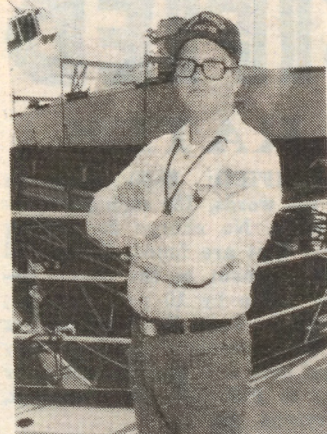

Customers can pickup the contribution envelopes at participating McDonald's, enclose a check or money order, and drop it in the mail to the American Red Cross.

Help Animal Victims Of Recent Hurricane

The Florida and Louisiana Humane Societies are in desperate need of equipment to help with critical communication, and supplies to house and contain animals. Their list includes:

Electric generators, chain link fencing, single line telephones, laptop computers, roofing supplies, dog crates, and animal carriers.

Trucks and drivers are also needed to haul donated equipment to Florida and Louisiana. For more information on designated collection points or to offer a truck and driver, call: The Animal Hurricane Relief Hotline, (301) 731-0103.

James McCann, a Navy petty officer, is a crewman aboard the amphibious transport dock USS Ponce. The Ponce and her crew recently left the Norfolk, Va. naval base and deployed to South Florida to assist in Hurricane Andrew relief efforts.

Teen Night Planned For Comedy Club

Greenbelter Christy Woods is organizing local teens for an evening performance at the Comedy Club. This will be an opportunity for teens to perform as well as to work on writing material, advertising and promoting their own event. Any teenager desiring to perform stand-up comedy, mime, ventriloquist, or other forms of entertainment is encouraged to participate. An ad elsewhere in this issue gives more information.

The manager of the local Comedy Connection is generously allowing the teens to have this amateur night.

Festival Art Show Winners

by Barbara Simon

Organizers of the Labor Day Art Show were delighted by the numbers of people who came to the show and the increased numbers of entrants—both in the children's and adults' categories. They wish to thank the Recreation Department and the Public Works Department for all their assistance in making everything run smoothly.

Here are the winners:

First prize in the oil/acrylic painting category was awarded to Marjorie Fugate Levine for her landscape "Dumbarton Oaks," second prize went to Jane Love for her portrait "Garnet" and third prize went to Tom Baker for "The Sower."

Tom Baker also won first prize in the drawings/prints category for his print "Foot-washing"; second prize, Barbara McGee for her drawing "Braiding Hair"; and third prize, Willy Losinger for his drawing "Third Degree."

First prize in the watercolor category was won by John Foster for his landscape "Down South"; second prize, Elizabeth Beers for "Thornfield"; and third prize, Jo Pritchard for "Canna-Aquatic Gardens."

Jean Sickle won first prize in the sculpture/fine crafts category for her ceramic white and blue bottle. Second prize went to Betty Timer for her stained glass wreath.

The children's entries were awarded prizes within both categories and age groups. In the pre-school to 6 years age group, first prize in painting was awarded to Isaac Linder; second prize, Ari Goldberg-Strassler and third prize, Zachary Yokel. First prize in drawing was awarded to Tony Fendlay. Second prize went to Janet Hagelgans and third prize to Tony Bates. In sculpture, first prize was awarded to Norma Simon.

In the 7 to 10 years age group first prize in painting was awarded to Jesse Goldberg-Strassler; second prize, Charity Bates. In drawing, first prize was awarded to Lisa Stratton, second prize to Theresa Arnold, and third prize to Johanna Baker. Johanna also won the Cipriano Award in the children's category for the artwork best illustrating the theme "Americans at Work" for her drawing entitled "Apple Picking Season." In sculpture, first prize was awarded to Andrew Bergen. Second prize went to Tim Farris, and third prize to Nathan Yokel.

In the 11 to 14 years age group, first prize in painting/drawing was awarded to Cody Pierson for his drawing, and second prize went to Katharine Stratton for her painting. First prize in sculpture/fine crafts, Corita Jones for her ceramic flower vase, and second prize, Kristina Zugby for her ceramic bowl.

In the youth category, ages 15-18, first prize was awarded to Brigid Harpe for her portrait drawing. Second prize went to Shannon Morman for her landscape painting, and third prize to James Schultz for his drawing.

This year, for the first time, there were two special awards—one in the adult category, and one in the children's—for the art works that best demonstrated a concern for the environment. The awards were jointly sponsored by the Committee to Save the Green Belt and the Greenbelt Greens and were presented

Lecture on Roses

Fall is the time for planting new roses and preparing the rose garden for winter. Rosarian Charles Bell will discuss and demonstrate fall cultural practices, including late fall feeding, pruning, mulching, spraying, methods of winter protection and preparing roses for winter dormancy.

The lecture/demonstration will be held on Tuesday, September 22 at 10:30 a.m. at the Rose Garden at the National Arboretum.

For additional information call 202-475-4815.

by Councilman Rodney Roberts at the awards ceremony. In the adult category, Marjorie Fugate Levine was the winner with her painting "The National Arboretum." Luke Mihalovic was awarded the prize in the children's category for his picture "Rocket Cal," which used recycled materials.
